

Dear Interested Party:

The National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA), a separately organized agency within the United States Department of Energy (DOE), prepared the enclosed Final Complex Transformation Supplemental Programmatic Environmental Impact Statement (SPEIS). The SPEIS evaluates alternatives for continuing the transformation of the nuclear weapons complex into a smaller, more efficient enterprise that can respond to changing national security challenges. A more responsive enterprise would help ensure the safety, security, and reliability of the nuclear weapons stockpile.

The SPEIS evaluates alternatives for restructuring: (1) facilities that use or store significant quantities of special nuclear material; and (2) research and development and testing facilities. The Final SPEIS includes all comments that were received on the Draft SPEIS, as well as NNSA's responses to those comments. The Final SPEIS also includes changes that were made to the Draft SPEIS in response to those comments. The Department of the Air Force and the U.S. Army Garrison White Sands were cooperating agencies in the preparation of the SPEIS.

NNSA will consider the environmental impact analysis presented in the SPEIS, along with other information, in making decisions regarding transformation of the complex. NNSA anticipates that it may issue several Records of Decision based on the SPEIS and other information. NNSA will wait until 30 or more days after publication by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency of the Notice of Availability for the Final SPEIS in the Federal Register before issuing any Records of Decision. NNSA will publish all Records of Decision in the Federal Register.
